STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

At last accounts, $175,000 of Lewiston city bonds of the last lot called in had been redeemed. Most of the bonds were evidently held by the farmers of Androscoggin county. Nearly double as many of the bonds have been passed in at the Lewiston city treasurer's office as have been returned from the National Bank of Redemption, of Boston. Farmers step in occasionally with a bond in a case and redeem it. "In most cases," says the city treasurer, "they don't seem particular about redeeming it. They would rather have the bond and don't know what to do with the money."

Cumberland.

Harpswell can fairly claim to be on the increase. Its latest boom is likely to take it fairly out of its boots and raise its population if not its pride. A colony of Bostonians people will be started in the spring. Mr. S. B. Harmon, of Boston, formerly of Lewiston, has recently purchased eight acres of land of Mr. George Bibber, and will begin in the spring the erection of fifteen cottages upon the premises. The price paid was $1,450. The cottages can be filled at once with Boston people. Mr. Harmon will build a large boarding house and conduct the same himself, the inhabitants of the cottages taking their meals at the boarding house and rooming in the cottages.

A physician who is sojourning at Higgins' Beach, created considerable excitement the other day when his pet dog fell into a well about twelve feet deep, by plunging in after the "purp." One woman, in a frantic effort at rescue, pitched a heavy basket down upon the struggling disciple of Esculapius. Man and dog were finally drawn to the surface not much the worse for the plunge.

Cyrus B. Smith, of Cleveland, was arrested at Portland, Monday night on complaint of Henry A. LaFetra, charged with having counterfeited the trade marks, cans, etc., putting on mark and making imitation of the Royal Baking Powder, manufactured by the Royal Baking Powder Co., of New York. LaFetra has been following Smith for some time. Two other parties have been arrested in the West for being connected with Smith.

A sign 30 feet long, bearing on a black ground, in large gilt letters the words "Grand Army Hall," was raised and fastened across the front of the new quarters on Congress street occupied by Bosworth Post, Grand Army of the Republic, Portland.

The Press says Albert Davis, of Portland, the driver of one of Prince's teams, while on his way Wednesday night to the Boston boat, was brutally assaulted by four roughs. His injuries were so severe that he has since been disabled from work. Thomas Miller, who recently attempted suicide by throwing himself from one of the Portland wharves in a fit of despondency, the result of hopeless sickness and poverty, died Sunday, at Grosly hospital from quick consumption. No doubt the shock of his attempt at self-destruction hastened the end.

A salt water turtle weighing 500 pounds was captured Sunday at the mouth of the Spurwink river by two brothers named Jordan. It seems the monster got tangled in the nets these men had set, and they had fastened to the turtle and towed him ashore. Monday they brought him into Portland and sold him to Captain Howard Knowlton for his garden at Peaks Island. The price paid for the turtle was $50. So broad is the shell of this monster that four boys found room to stand thereon, and the turtle was strong enough to crawl along with this load.

THE BENNINGTON MONUMENT.

PROFESSOR JOHN F. WEIR'S DESIGN—PROPOSED SITE.

A Troy, N. Y., despatch of August 18, says: The design for the Bennington Battle Monument, by Professor John F. Weir, of Yale College, is statuesque rather than architectural. The entire height will not exceed sixty feet. The committee aimed to get all the height possible without destroying the statuesque design. The base, which is about thirty feet square, is an unhewn bowlder of granite about ten feet high. Resting on this base are two blocks with base-reliefs representing scenes connected with the battle, and upon these blocks rises a monolithic column, on which stands a colossal statue in bronze. The design is an ideal representative of the spirit of the times, something like a minute-man of Concord. The figure is in action; apparently just drawing sword, starting himself and leading the people to repel aggression. Around the base will be placed probably four bronze figures, representative of the time and people and their occupations when called to take up arms and follow a leader.

The site of the monument is to be the coming of the road immediately opposite the old supply depot for the capture of which Baum was sent out by Burgoyne, while Bigelow was to endeavor to cut off the retreat of the Americans.

A space of from 150 to 200 feet in diameter will be inclosed in this circle and a terraced mound will be raised ten feet high, on which the monument will be placed.

SLAPPED ON BOTH CHEEKS.

THE RIGHT OF LADIES TO BE SEATED IN THE CARS ASSERTED WITH EMPHASIS.

A disturbance occurred yesterday afternoon on one of the trains from Rockaway Beach to the city, over the New York and Rockaway Railroad. The train was crowded, and all the seats were occupied. In one of the cars stood two ladies, one of whom, who was rather delicate in appearance, carried a child in her arms. Near to them stood an elderly gentleman, tall, erect of carriage and with white hair and beard. He was evidently concerned over the fact that a lady, who seemed in delicate health, should be compelled to stand with a heavy child in her arms while many men occupied seats around her. As a jolt of the car precipitated the ladies violently forward, and almost caused the one with the child to lose her balance, the old gentleman could evidently stand it no longer. He advanced to a seat close to the ladies, in which were comfortably ensconced four young men.

"Gentlemen," he said, with every outward show of courtesy, but with a slight inflection of contempt in his voice, "permit me to call your attention to the fact that there are two ladies standing here who have been unable to find seats. One of these ladies is embarrassed with a child.

The young men, who were of the "nobby" dressed, self-sufficient type of city youth, stared insolently at the speaker.

"We've paid our fair," answered one of the young men in a saffron necktie, "and we're entitled to seats."

"If you make that a point," said the old gentleman, sooner than see these ladies stand I will refund you your fares in return for the two seats."

"We don't want your money," retorted the young man, who had spoken before, insolently. "We just want to stay where we are."

The old man flushed angrily. "I came from the South," he said, "and if there a man were to act as you do under these circumstances we should look upon him as a cur and pitch him out of the window."

"Do you call me a cur?" screamed the young fellow, springing to his feet.

"Do you refuse to relinquish your seat?"

"Yes; and do you call me a cur?"

"I consider you to be far lower than a cur."

As the old gentleman uttered these words, the young fellow made a threatening motion, but the old man was too quick for him. He drew back his right hand and administered his opponent a stinging slap on the cheek. Instantly he executed a similar manoeuvre with his left hand. The smacks rang out loud and clear above the rumbling noise of the train. The young man was staggered and his companions sprang up to assist him. Other passengers, however, whose sympathies had been attracted by the quarrel, sprang to the old gentleman's aide and prevented any further violence. The ladies, to whom attention had been attracted by the old gentleman's interference in their behalf, had, unnoticed by him been provided with seats by fellow passengers a few seconds before the quarrel culminated in the warming of the whippersnapper's ears.—Herald.

RETURN OF AMERICAN RIFLEMEN.

The second contingent of the American rifle team that contested in the international match, at Wimbledon, reached New York on the steamship Alaska, yesterday morning. The delegation that had come home on an earlier boat were gathered on the pier to welcome their late comrades. The new-comers were the captain of the team, Colonel G. E. R. Howard, J. H. Brown, C. W. Hinman, J. L. Paulding, John Smith, Walter Scott, Francis Stuart, A. B. Van Heusen, F. J. Rabbeth, Frederic Adler and E. G. Shakespeare. It was easy to distinguish the members of the team as they descended the gang-plank. Every man had a bundle of old rags and was weighted with shells. All were tanned and all seemed glad to get home. Captain Howard was so busy looking after luggage and passing up customs officers that he could hardly find time to talk about rifle-shooting, but to a Tribune reporter he said: "The team was handsomely received and entertained in England, and we've not a particle of fault to find with our treatment. As far as the result of the match is concerned I can only say I wish it had been different. It was simply a case of hard luck. We were ahead until we began on the 900-yard range, and then we went to pieces. It was one of those times when the best men do the poorest work and the poorest men do the best. The weather was very bad. There we stood in water up to our ankles, shivering under our overcoats, waiting to shoot. Whenever a man would score a bull's-eye we'd take a record of his windgauge and elevation, but it didn't do any good. It was simply a question of luck whether or not a man would get on the target. There was water all over the range. Then the sun would appear for a minute—just long enough to make the mist rise from the water—and then the whole range became almost invisible. It was disgusting."

"Will the team disband now?"

"Yes, for the present. I hope there'll be another match next year. R. W. Cameron has subscribed $5,000 to help defray the expense of sending the Englishmen over here, and as money is all that is wanted, it looks as though we would have another chance at the English team."

Sergeant A. B. Van Heusen was also spoken to by the reporter. He said he had enjoyed himself greatly, and he too regretted only that the Americans had not won. Other members of the team expressed themselves as well pleased with the hospitality of the Englishmen.

—"Well, sir," said an engineer, as he took a doughnut, "all these accidents occur just by people trying to be smart. I have seen hundreds of farmers who would stop their teams far enough away from a train, so there would be no danger, but about one in ten acts as though he owned the earth, and if he gets the hind end of his wagon over he thinks he has achieved something remarkable. I expect to kill a woman out here about 100 miles one of these days. She drives an old black mare and I think she lays for a train. She sees the train coming and slaps the old mare with the lines and hurries on the track, and the old mare stops as though she was going to eat grass, and then the old lady looks at me in the cab window through her spectacles, slaps the old mare some more, and she meanders off the track just before I hit her, and the old lady looks back at me just as the engine whirls past, and my heart is in my mouth, and she looks just as though she thought I was running that way for fun, and that I am an impolite thing because I don't slack up for her. Some day the marsh out there is going to have a shower of black mare and buggy wheels and spectacles, and there will be crape on the old lady's door, and instead of a verdict of suicide the Coroner's jury will blame the engineer, and her relatives will sue the company for damages."

—The following is the inscription on a East Hartford, Conn., tombstone: "Sacred to the memory of Mrs. Hannah Smith, second wife of Deacon Moses Smith. She departed this life May 24, 1799, in the fifty-third year of her age. Deacon Smith's executors kept all her property and refused to pay any of her funeral charges, even the sexton's bill. This monument was erected by the friends of the deceased."

The Troy Times tells of a Troy editor who went into the tailoring establishment of a German, to order a suit of clothes. After the cloth had been selected and the measure taken, the tailor demanded a deposit as a guarantee that the customer would come for the goods. To this the editor demurred, saying that he did not know the tailor any better than the latter knew him. After some little conversation the German, however, waived the deposit, and the clothes were made. When our genial news editor called and paid cash down for the suit, the German was so delighted that he asked his customer to go out and take a drink with him. The editor, of course, declined, saying he did not drink; whereupon a gleam of satisfaction and intelligence combined, shot across the tailor's countenance, as he exclaimed: 'Dot's de reason vy you pay for de clothes so quick as you got 'em.'"

—A despatch to the N. Y. Tribune says: One of the most brutal murders in the annals of San Francisco, came to light Saturday, when the dead body of Nicholas Skerret, an old pioneer, was found in his own house. The crime was committed on Monday, by three men who claimed to be Colorado capitalists. They were taken by Skerret to see a house, which they talked of buying, and while he was showing it, they struck him over the head with a slung-shot. They then put on the door of his lodgings a notice saying he had gone to Colorado. One of the murderers boldly took up his quarters in the dead man's rooms and was captured there by the police. It is thought the scheme of the murders was to get a transfer of Skerrets property made in Colorado, and then continue drawing his rents here, giving out that he had taken a trip to Europe. They evidently counted on success, as Skerret had no relatives and no intimate associates. His dead body was found by a colored woman who was employed by Skerret to clean and look after the houses. It was locked up in the closet of an empty house, and already was in a bad state of decomposition. Skerret was worth $250,000, having made a fortune as a dry goods merchant. The police have no clews to the other criminals, who, it is thought, have gone east.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 23, 1883.

Hon. John C. New, who has just returned to Washington from the West, expresses himself as confident, after consultation with Ohio politicians of all shades of political belief, that Judge Foraker will be elected Governor by a fair majority.

The publishers say the sale of Mr. Blaine's book will amount to 1,000,000 copies. Fancy Mr. Arthur or any other President of the United States writing a book that would sell like that.—Boston Herald.

The Northern Pacific Railroad is finished—ten years, lacking a few weeks, after the failure of Jay Cooke & Co. caused a suspension of work upon it. What a wonderful growth the northwest country has had in the decade! It has its parallel nowhere.

The Methodist ministers of New England receive an average salary of $500 a year, the Baptists a trifle more, the Presbyterians $740 and the Episcopalians $900. These facts may possibly have something to do with the dearth of young men entering the ministry.

The colored men of Maryland will hold a State Convention at Baltimore on the 13th of September. The object is to choose delegates to the National Convention that has been called to meet in Louisville, to take into consideration the question of labor and education, so far as they relate to the colored people.

Speaking of the Cincinnati Democratic Convention, a looker-on says: "As the afternoon wore on the complexion of things grew decidedly groggy, and the gathering became a howling, swearing, sweating, fighting mob. The police had a scene of hand-to-hand combats. The wounded were carried away as fast as they fell in battle.

Explorer Stanley is to be styled King Stanley of Congo, and is to be invested with absolute authority to sign treaties and to execute all the other functions of absolute sovereignty. A few years ago Mr. Stanley was a reporter on the New York Herald, and the savages have simply recognized in a material way the royal standing of the newspaper man.

The Republican situation in Mississippi is said by ex-Congressman Lynch, of that State, to be much improved. The policy of uniting with the better element of the Democracy for the election of county officers has been carried out in a large number of localities. By adopting this method the Republicans have secured honest elections and immunity from bulldozing.

Among the Democratic papers that advocate Mr. Randall's election to the Speakership are three of the most important ones in the South. These are the Augusta Chronicle, the Mobile Register and the New Orleans Picayune. They all recognize the folly of the Democrats attempting to disturb the tariff-text winter, and urge that the subject be permitted to rest for the present.

This is the season when the hay fever patient takes his little sneeze, and hurries himself away to the mountains to find relief until the frosts of early winter come. It is a singular fact that, while physicians are loth to acknowledge failure in the cure of any and all diseases, they do not even experiment with this malady when they themselves are sufferers, but have one prescription for all patients, which is to go to some better clime and an atmosphere where it is unknown.

There is therefore nothing—absolutely nothing—in General Garfield's acts as President which gives the least color to these assertions against a man now dead and unable to defend himself, and for whom those who pretended to be his friends while he was alive and in power are making a very feeble defence. It seems to us that honorable men have a right to regard these accusations of Garfield as infamous. If any one has proofs to offer of their truth he had better do it quickly. But if there was the least proof it would have been produced long ago.—N. Y. Herald.

It was thought that Tom Thumb lived to a good age for a dwarf, but this seems to have been a mistake. Richard Gibson, miniature painter and court dwarf to Charles I., lived to be 75, and his dwarf wife, Ann Shepherd, to be 85. Sir Geoffrey Hudson, dwarf and diplomatist to Charles II., expired at 63, and the little gentleman's span of life was shortened by his incarceration, on suspicion of connivance in the Popish plot, in the gatehouse of Westminster, where he died. The far famed Polish dwarf, Count Borulawski, for whom George IV. provided, died also at an advanced age.

A special despatch to the Evening Post, dated Cincinnati, Aug. 21, says: Democratic circles here are intensely agitated today. A committee of Senator Pendleton's friends are investigating the alleged contract between Hoadly and John R. McLean, of the Enquirer, wherein Hoadly agreed to crush Pendleton and destroy the News-Journal in consideration for the Enquirer's support. If the statement is true the committee will ask for Hoadly's withdrawal from the State ticket. Mr. Pendleton was deeply agitated when the subject was broached to-day, but refused to talk. Hoadly and McLean have been in consultation all the morning.

The Rev. S. F. Smith, D. D., of Newton Centre, Mass., author of "My Country 'Tis of Thee," has found it necessary to write a denial of a printed story, that he was sending out autograph copies of the hymn for a compensation. He thus explains: "A kind Providence has placed me above need, and even if it were otherwise I should scorn to be selling my autograph. The fact is this: A young grandson of eleven years, having obtained a child's printing press, asked me to put my name to a few copies of the hymn if he should print them. It was for his sole benefit, not mine, and I repudiate all connection with the affair. I consented to gratify him, and he has probably sent out a notice which has unhappily involved my name with his affair. I am ashamed of the boy and utterly refuse to have anything to do with it."

BRIDGTON ACADEMY REUNION.

We have received a copy of the "Proceedings at the Reunion of the Alumni of Bridgton Academy, held at North Bridgton, Me., on July 12th, 1883." It is a book of sixty-nine pages, issued in neat typographical style from the office of the Bridgton News. Thirty pages of the "proceedings" are taken up by a very interesting historical address by A. S. Kimball, Esq., reviewing the history of the Academy from its organization, Sept. 1, 1806, up to the present time, and presenting brief sketches of the more prominent men who have been connected with the school, either as officers, teachers or pupils; many of whom have become distinguished in this and other States and in the Councils of the Nation.

The report is illustrated with nine fine portraits on steel of former students of the academy, as follows: Dexter A. Hawkins, Esq., of the New York Bar; Rev. Cyrus Hamlin, D. D., President of Middlebury College; Rev. Samuel C. Fessenden, D.D., Representative in Congress, 1861-65; Hon. Noah Woods, of this city; Hon. Edward P. Burnham, of Saco; Col. John M. Adams, of the Portland Argus; Hon. Elbridge Gerry, Member of Congress in 1849-51; Hon. La Fayette Grover, ex-Governor and present U. S. Senator from Oregon; and Hon. John A. Andrew, the famous "war Governor" of Massachusetts.

The Republicans of Iowa that the Democrats of that State think they are going to catch and hold this year, and the style in which they are to be caught and held, remind the Iowa State Register of the story of the small boy and his first fish: "Oh, father," he screamed, rushing in in ecstacy, "I caught the biggest fish ever was. He bit right on to my book." "But where is the fish, my child?" "Oh, pa, he just unbit again and div!"

Kirkland M. Fitch, the defaulting cashier of the Second National Bank of Warren, Ohio, whose movements have perplexed the western authorities, arrived in Boston early Sunday morning. He went to a hotel, apparently suffering from mental trouble, and Monday morning he resolved to surrender himself to the police. Going to the district headquarters he asked for Chief Wade, gave his name to that official and said he was wanted in Warren for having embezzled $80,000. On this he was taken into custody. The self-accused states that he lost all the money in stock speculations in New York. Chief Wade telegraphed to Warren and officers are now coming to take Fitch to that city.

Judge Nelson has delivered at Boston an elaborate decision in the case of Ah Shong, the alleged Chinese laborer landed at that port by the captain of the British bark Eme. The defence set up the claim that Ah Shoog had never been a subject or lived in the dominions of the Emperor of China. He was born of Chinese parentage on the island of Hong Kong, after its session by China to Great Britain in 1843, and he is now and has been from his birth a subject of the Queen of Great Britain. The Judge reviews the various treaties and the anti-Chinese act, and forms the opinion that the inhibitions of this act are not to be construed as applying to persons of the Chinese race who are not and never were subjects of or residents within the Chinese Empire.

The N. Y. Evening Post says: That Senator Pendleton was beaten in the house of his (ostensible) political friends, in his own city and county, was bad enough if it had been accomplished by ordinary political methods, in order to defeat him in his aspirations for a return to the Senate of the United States; but it is agreed on all hands that not even in Cincinnati was such a corrupt convention held as that which made the county nominations as against the interests of Pendleton. In different ways both Thurman and Pendleton stand for the old fashioned Democracy, which at any rate had principles and courage. The new Bookwalter, Hoadly and McLean regime depends for success upon rum, money and the spoils system. The Democratic house is divided against itself; not as to mere methods, but upon fundamentals, and the election of candidate Foraker is said to be, as circumstances would indicate, a foregone conclusion.

The wheat crop of England is to be below the average as to quantity, with not a more than ordinarily good quality. There is no reason to believe that the competition from India will be unusually large for the coming year. Our own surplus will not be so great but that Europe will want it, without question, at tolerably satisfactory prices. While commercial failures are unpleasantly frequent, and many industrial establishments are making little or no profit, or indeed are standing idle, the burning sun is ripening the corn in millions of acres, and the only question so far as to the cotton crop is whether it will be six millions, plus, of bales, or reach the earlier estimate of over seven millions of bales. Extraordinaries excepted there will be enough for the demand, which demand is likely to be as large as usual. Population will soon overtake, if it has not already, the speeding up of machinery, and whoever may go too fast, the country at large will find itself, when the harvests are ended, rich in all substantial things.

A Washington special to the Boston Journal says: The recent strike of telegraph operators has revived the talk of using the telephone for the transmission of long-distance communications. The telephone is now used for sending business communications between this city and Baltimore, and experiments have demonstrated the feasibility of the invention for sending messages several hundred miles. It is asserted that press matter, between Washington and New York, for instance, can be forwarded by telephone, with a single wire, and taken down by a stenographer as rapidly as the same amount of business could be sent by the Morse system of telegraphy with twelve wires and twenty-four operators. The economy of such a system is apparent.

There is a compact in existence between the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Bell Telephone Company, made to save the existing Western Union wire interest, which was not entered into until the telephone right for the District of Columbia was disposed of, preventing the use by the Bell Telephone Company of the telephone for competition with telegraph wires. Some of the best patent attorneys here assert that if a fight is made in downright earnest the Bell patent could be set aside by showing the priority of the Drawbaugh inventions. The effect of this would be to throw the telephone open to the free use of the public. But as such a movement would be pro bono publico, no one has yet felt disposed to hazard the necessary expense of litigation with so powerful a corporation as the Bell Telephone Company. Now, however, it is asserted that a strong combination of interested persons is being formed in Washington, New York, Boston and other cities for the purpose of reopening the case and bringing the matter of priority before the Courts.

The Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette says it never has known the Hamilton County (Ohio) Democracy "to be in a worse shape than they are just now presented."

Colonel Frank A. Burr, the well known newspaper correspondent, relates that he visited Judge Black at his home only two days before the beginning of his fatal illness. "I had driven up," he says, "carrying him Jefferson Davis' ill tempered reply to an article which he had given to the Press (Philadelphia) nearly two years ago. He took a seat in a great arm chair upon the porch and I handed him the article. He read it over carefully, then looked off upon the fields for a moment, wrapt in deep thought. He then turned, and with that peculiar look upon his face which was so noticeable when he was pleased, said: 'I fear Jeff has lost his temper.' . . . As he shook me heartily by the hand he said, good naturedly: 'I've been taking it very easy. The truth is, I am healthier and lazier now than at any time during the past twenty years. I get up in the morning and think I will work; but I walk out and look at the fruit and crops and come in and sit on the porch awhile and then go and look at them again. I really believe I need a little spurring up these days.' . . . A week later the great man was dead."

Something In This!

If you wish to surrender a policy in a regular insurance company, you can get back an equitable share of what you have paid in; if you drop an assessment policy, you can get nothing. The longer a regular policy has been in force, the more it is worth; the longer an assessment policy has been in force, the less it is worth, for the rate grows heavier and the company shakier.—Exchange.

HOT COFFEE

FREE TO ALL!

Takes The Town By Storm.

Our friends and the public are invited to come and get the finest cup of coffee they ever drank. Mr. H. Ricker, General Manager, will exhibit at our store

THE BOSS

OF

ONE MINUTE COFFEE POT.

This Pot is secured by Patents of date of June 8, '78, July 9, '79.

DO NOT BUY INFRINGEMENTS.

The most wonderful of all inventions ever exhibited before the public for making coffee and tea. A child six or eight years old can make coffee and tea with it just as well as the most experienced cook, and it takes with all the rich ingredients contained in the coffee.

Only One Minute to Make Coffee as clear as wine

In boiling coffee you get no coffee, only bitter water; but by the new method of making it, we save all the acid, caffeine, and rich aroma, which make a delicious drink. No fish skins, no salt, no eggs, no cold water, nor anything else used to settle the coffee.

It is not a four-story pot, with air chambers and kitchen furniture, which people are looking for in buying a patent coffee pot, but it is perfectly simple.

Thousands are ready to testify that they never drank a cup of coffee until they drank one made in this pot.

☞ Ladies and gentlemen, there is no humbug about it. The coffee will be made before your own face in ONE MINUTE, as clear as wine.

☞ All are requested to come, whether customers at our store or not, and get a cup of Hot Coffee.

Over 600 have been sold in Burlington, 1,000 in Rutland, 800 in Brattleboro, 500 in Keene, N. H., 1,000 in Springfield, Mass., 2,000 in Worcester, 1,500 in Lowell, and 800 in Concord, and the pots are giving universal satisfaction,—you save 365 eggs a year, and you save one-half your coffee. These are FACTS that will be proven to your satisfaction. 2,000 sold in Portland. These pots will last a lifetime as they never have to be set on the stove. 600,000 have already been sold.

CAUTION.

Do not buy Infringements of Patents. Many innocently think they have a right to make a patented article for their own use. That must not be allowed. The law was changed some years ago, and now reads: "Infringements consist in the use, sale or manufacture of something already patented."

The Pot Will be on Sale While the Exhibit Lasts.

We have seen this coffee pot tested in the most wonderful manner and want our friends and customers to see it in practical operation. Respectfully,

Tea White, Kenduskeag Bridge.

Lyman's Dandelion Bitters.

The bitter extract of dandelion has been used by physicians for centuries. The Arabian medical writers speak of the efficacy in diseases of the LIVER, KIDNEYS and BOWELS, and to-day there is no standard work on medicine in which it is not strongly recommended for the purification of the blood, for the cleansing of the liver duct, and of the intestines. At the same time it regulates the secretion of the bile and remedies from the body that sluggishness and weariness of life constantly felt in connection with diseases of the liver. Rightfully prepared as in the case of this extract is found to be superior to all other bitters as a cure of congestion of the LIVER, CONSTIPATION and the HEART-BURN, HEADACHE and NAUSEA which makes life such a burden.

LYMAN'S DANDELION BITTERS,

Brown and Staff and the Governor and Council and staff officers inspected the company headquarters, mess tent and kitchen during the day. The Governor will inspect the troops to-morrow afternoon. Gen. Chamberlain will be present, and Gov. Butler has received an invitation to attend.

The Governor has nominated William Flowers and Elijah Low, both of Bangor, as special constables for the enforcement of the liquor law in Penobscot county.

At 2:30 P.M. Rev. S. F. Stackpole of Saccarrappa, preached from Acts, 26—19, "I was not disobedient to the Heavenly vision." At 7:30 Dr. H. W. The Yacht Ideal.

EASTPORT, Aug. 22. The yacht Ideal fell off the rocks and sunk at eleven this morning. She is now covered by fifteen fathoms of water. She was sold at auction to Gillese & Staples, of Lubec, for $70. T. J. Havemeyer and friends from the wrecked yacht Ideal arrived here this evening in good spirits and all well. They are not much depressed except for the loss of the remainder of their pleasure trip. The party consist of T. J. Havemeyer, F. W. Jackson and wife, Miss K. H. Ellis and Miss M. H. Belloin, all of New York. They are now stopping at the Passamaquoddy Hotel and will probably leave for home on Friday. Nearly all moveable articles except piano and pictures were removed before she sunk.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Believed to be Suicide.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. It is believed by the officers of the War Department that Gen. Haines, who recently died in an insane asylum in Hartford, Conn., really committed suicide. They regard it as a very conspicuous circumstance that the authorities of the asylum have not forwarded to the department a report of the case. There have been several cases of people in the army committing suicide in insane asylums, whose deaths were reported officially to have been caused by other means.

MINNESOTA.

A Destructive Cyclone.—Terrible Loss of Life and Property.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 22. The cyclone which raged at Rochester, last night, is reported to have been very severe. Twenty-four persons are reported to have been killed, and 50 or more injured. It is also rumored that a train was blown from the track, but no particulars have been received.

Later.

A passenger train on the Rochester & Northern railway was blown from the track last night during the cyclone, and some one hundred persons killed and wounded.

Another despatch says 25 persons were killed by the accident and 35 injured; the latter were taken to the hospital at Owatona.

One-third of Rochester is an entire wreck. It is believed from all reports that come in that the whole country surrounding that place is in ruins and that the number killed may reach up into hundreds. C. U. Cole, proprietor of Zumbrota Mills, at Zumbrota, was instantly killed. He was in one of the mills when the storm struck the town and wrecked the building. Gov. Hubbard sent $5,000 to aid the sufferers, when he received word from Rochester stating that the town was in ruins and that 40 persons had been killed. It is impossible to get full details of the ravages of the storm as the telegraph wires are all down. The storm in other directions was quite severe.

TENNESSEE.

Fatal Railroad Accident.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 22. The west bound passenger train on the Memphis & Little Rock Railroad, which left here at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, met with an accident last night, four miles west of Forest City, Ark.

Sollager and Harry Foldbeage, merchants, of Cotton Plant, Ark., and John Adair, of Little Rock Road. Several other passengers received injuries.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. Mr. Preston, Haytian Minister, is in receipt of official communications from Hayti announcing that a law has been made closing to foreign commerce the ports of Jacmel, Jeremie, and Miragoane, the three being in rebellion.

A proclamation has been issued by President Solomon announcing that the insurgents at Jacmel, in cold blood, murdered 14 political prisoners, civil and military. After being defeated by the Government troops in a battle on the 3d inst., the insurgents retreated to the city and before the Government troops arrived assassinated the most influential Government officials, because on July 23 these officials had refused to betray the government and join the rebellion.

Telephonic Consolidation Embarrassed.

LOWELL, Aug. 22. The Mail will say to-morrow: "The fall in prices of the telephone stock of New England since the vote to consolidate was passed and the delay in organizing the new company has caused an uneasiness among stockholders, and rumors are current that a break will occur and the companies continue under present management. Unless there is a sudden rise in the stock, which is to be part of the consolidation, we are assured by large stockholders that the Executive Committee will be requested not to consummate the transaction at present."

NEW YORK.

HUNTERS' POINT, L. I., Aug. 22. A fire is raging in the Standard Oil Works at Long Island City. One man is said to have been burned to death.

ALMEDA WILLEY. The work of unloading the schooner Almeda Willey of her cargo of salt continues actively. The water is now entirely out of her hold and it is thought no further damage will be sustained. The amount of salt at present taken out is between 9,000 and 10,000 bushels. The original cargo was from 19,000 to 20,000 bushels.

The excursion of St. Mary's Parish to Cedar Grove, near Bucksport, yesterday, drew out a large party and the two trains, leaving at 9 A. M. and 2 P. M., after having a very enjoyable time.

PLEASANT OCCASION. Miss Susie M. Quinby last evening received a large and merry party of her young lady and gentlemen friends at the residence of her father, Mr. Samuel F. Quinby, on Pine street. The evening was pleasantly passed in social converse, enlivened with music, games and dancing, and the occasion was much enjoyed by the numerous gathering in attendance.

THE SHAW FAILURE. George W. Morse, Esq., Boston, attorney for F. Shaw & Bros., passed through this city, yesterday morning on return to his home in Boston from his trip to New Brunswick. He represents the state of feeling among the Provincial creditors of the suspended firm as very favorable and he comes back with a flattering hope of an amicable arrangement being perfected.

MAINE MILITIA. The Augusta Journal says: Last year the flag given to the company qualifying the most men in rifle practice, fell to the Mechanic Blues, of Portland. This set the Dexter company to thinking and they come to this encampment with every man qualified and with the expectation of carrying off the flag. But we learn that one other company, the Waterville Light Infantry, also have every man qualified. How the matter will turn out remains to be seen.

A FINE SEASIDE HOUSE. The Ocean House at South West Harbor is a favorite resort with the public and Bangor people in this and past seasons have in large numbers enjoyed the hospitality of the popular proprietors, N. Teague & Son. The hotel has accommodations for one hundred guests and is supplied with all the conveniences which are to be desired at a summer residence by the sea. The attractions of the immediate vicinity are unequalled in their beauty and picturesqueness.

BOSS COFFEE POT. The establishment of Tea White is daily crowded with a great throng of people who come to behold the Boss Coffee Pot and get a free drink of coffee made in one minute. Mr. H. Ricker, the manager for the New England States, has already exhibited the remarkable coffee pot in many cities and everywhere he experiences a great rush. With this pot the coffee made is very clear and contains all the rich ingredients of the coffee. All those who drink the coffee made in this way are ready to testify that it is very superior. Ladies are invited to call daily between the hours of ten and six at White's, witness the exhibition and test the coffee.

GOLDEN WEDDING. On Tuesday evening a pleasant company gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob L. Barker, of Brewer, to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. There were present a goodly number of children and grand children and old-time friends. A richly loaded table was spread on the lawn, under the golden sky of the summer twilight, and after showing practical appreciation of its contents, poems were read adapted to the occasion and brief remarks of congratulation were made by two of the guests, to which Mr. Barker responded in well chosen words. The party separated leaving behind them choice gifts of gold and memories of matured esteem and affection of family and friends most precious of all.

FIRE IN A BREWER SHIP YARD.

Four Buildings in Warren & Barbour's Ship Yard Destroyed—Narrow Escape of a New Vessel.

About 11 30 o'clock yesterday forenoon the whistle at Rollins' mill announced that a fire had broken out in that vicinity, and upon investigation it was found to be in Warren & Barbour's ship yard. The fire caught in the oakum shop and in a brief time four buildings, namely, the oakum, blacksmith, carpenter and joiner shops, were in ruins with their contents. The oakum shop contained all of that material which would be needed by the vessel building in the yard. The blacksmith shop contained numerous tools, dead eyes, &c. In the carpenter shop was considerable hard wood and in the joiner shop was the cabin all ready to be put in place in the new craft. Among the various articles destroyed was a boat and windlass, both belonging to the Sch. Savannah.

The joiner shop and a considerable portion of the contents of the buildings belonged to William Warren and he estimates his loss at $1,000 to $1,200, on which he has no insurance. The three other buildings belonged to W. E. Dunning, of Charlestown, Mass. Adjacent property of Amos Dunning was damaged to the amount of $50. A considerable amount of stickings piled up to the southward of the yard were burned. The newly completed schooner Annie Lord was on the stocks and was for a time in great jeopardy, being only saved by the sudden change of the wind in the early stages of the conflagration. The loss to the vessel owners on the cabin and other material will be probably from $500 to $600, on which there is understood to be insurance.

THE GLASS BALL SHOOT.

Peavey Retains the Championship Badge—Remarkable Shooting.

The second glass ball contest between James H. Peavey and Thomas F. Allen occurred yesterday afternoon on the grounds of the Norombega Club, in the presence of a large number of spectators, and resulted in a victory for Peavey, he retaining the State Championship Badge won at the previous shoot. The day was a favorable one and very brilliant shooting was made. Allen made a score of 37, missing one single and two doubles, and Peavey made the remarkable record of 40, breaking every one at which he fired. After the contest was over, Fred T. Hall gave a short exhibition and broke ten balls in succession.

A FOREIGN PARASITE.

A Demand for the Extermination of the English Sparrows.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

All over our country the question is being agitated by legislatures, farmers, gardeners and the general public as to the best method of ridding ourselves of the English Sparrow pest. The Commissioners of the District of Columbia have offered a bounty on their heads, and the Massachusetts legislature has taken the first steps to abate the nuisance. Other states are doing, or have already done the same.

These birds were largely imported into this country for the purpose of destroying the canker worms, which were devastating the parks in Boston and other cities, but the birds have proved a much greater nuisance than the worms, and the folly of their introduction is generally acknowledged by all ornithologists, entomologists and botanists. They are not insectivorous birds and are of little or no practical value in destroying injurious insects, and their own destructive qualities, in other directions, are considerable.

They are constant breeders and authorities state that a single pair will raise thirty young in a single season, and when they have once fastened themselves on a community they soon overrun it. They are very pugnacious and hardy, and drive away from the localities which they infest the smaller native and really insectivorous birds.

They are without song or any pleasing traits to recommend them to our protection.

They are dirty to an extraordinary degree and render obnoxious the places which they frequent.

These pests have been among us now for a few years and are increasing with remarkable rapidity, and now is the time, if ever, to stop their inroads before they reach our farms and work havoc there. They prefer populous districts and it would seem that by proper and prompt measures they might be prevented from repeating here the work which they have carried to such an extent elsewhere.

I would not advise shooting them in summer time as the general observer could not always distinguish between them and our native sparrows, and the "boy-with-a-gun" if given license to shoot them would be likely to fail to respect our brilliantly colored Orioles, Vireos, Warblers and Flycatchers, which are all of real value as insect eaters. In the spring and summer their eggs should be taken and destroyed wherever found and as they can be readily distinguished from those of any other species, no mistakes need occur in this direction, but the main advantage we possess in a warfare against these intruders is in the fact that they winter with us, congregating in large flocks in our thoroughfares and largely seeking shelter in the bridge that crosses the Penobscot river. At this season our other birds have left us and they may be dealt with without fear of disaster to our native species. At this time a judicious distribution of grain soaked in strychnine would do efficient work and would probably lead to their practical extermination. This method would seem to be preferable on many accounts to shooting, although that method could be used in winter without the objection raised to its pursuit in summer.

I offer these suggestions as the necessity is obvious and hope some action may be taken to abate the nuisance before the Sparrows have obtained the upper hand, for they will as surely drive away our small songsters as they have in other places, if allowed to thrive under protection.

Prof. Riley, in speaking of the caterpillar pest which is at present devastating our public parks in other cities, says that the English Sparrow is not only of no use in staying their ravages but that they have driven away the smaller birds that would have aided in their destruction.

I could cite authorities innumerable showing the folly of importing these birds and the urgent necessity for their extermination, but the facts are too well understood to need such confirmation.

Mr. Everett Smith, our late efficient commissioner of game and fisheries, and a thorough student and lover of nature, has called the attention of the authorities, in Portland, to the necessity for action on this subject and many papers in this State are doing the same. Let us hope the agitation of this subject will not be in vain.

FROM NORTHPORT.

Continuance of the Campmeeting.—Large Attendance and Interesting Session.

NORTHPORT, Tues. Aug. 21.

The service last evening was an excellent social service conducted by Rev. C. A. Southard, of Rockland, and participated in by both ministry and laity. A congregation of 600 or 700 was present.

This morning excellent religious services were held at 8 o'clock in several of the tents and chapels. The preaching service at 10 o'clock was conducted by Rev. C. B. Besse, of Bangor. Text, Matt. VII—7, "Ask and it shall be given you." This text is from one of the most excellent sermons ever listened to by mortals. It was an ordination sermon delivered by Jesus Christ. He had chosen the twelve from the body of his Disciples and with them before Him and the multitudes around, sat down on the plain of a mountain and proceeded to unfold to them the nature of the Kingdom he had come to plant among men. This discourse, Dr. Whedon tells us, is divided into three distinct parts. First, Christianity distinguished from irreligion or its morals; second, Christianity distinguished from degenerate Judaism or its devotions, and third, Christianity distinguished from gentileism or its aims. The text is in the conclusion of this sermon and therefore means that this Kingdom of Heaven, as thus unfolded, may be secured in our hearts in answer to prayer. Notice a proof or two: First, the justice of God demands it. Man is in a dilemma. Born so. If God will not help him when he cries, then there is no justice in Him; second, the unchangeableness of the Lord demands it. Men think this against it, but never a greater mistake. The unchangeableness of the laws of vegetation enable us to raise weeds or vegetables as we will. So God's changeless hatred to sin and love of holiness leads Him to hear the cry of him who seeks purity; third, the wisdom of God demands it. Many think this against prayer, but this is an error, too. Wisdom leads to a different course with the thief and the law-abiding citizen. So Divine wisdom treats differently the man who curses and the one who prays. Have you the Kingdom of Heaven in you? If not it is because you have not longed and asked for it.

The afternoon service was conducted by Rev. J. H. Moores of Bar Harbor; text, Luke, 23, "Lord remember me when Thou comest into Thy kingdom. First, man is a sinner and needs salvation; second, Jesus came into the world to save sinners. These two thoughts should be linked together—man a sinner, Christ a Saviour. All may be saved, but a mere look at Jesus does not save. Multitudes looked upon him as he hung on the cross, but it was the thief who got saved. This narrative teaches that we should embrace the first opportunity we have to be saved. This thief sees Christ now for the first time and turned the view to his eternal safety. So should you do this hour. Another lesson taught is that Christ can save in a moment. There is a false philosophy abroad. Men think salvation is by works and hence must be a work of time. But if this is true, then alas for the thief. He was saved in a moment. So you may be. Again, this narrative teaches Christ's willingness to save. Mistaken ideas abound. Men sometimes think that God so hates sin that He is hardly ready to save sinners. But such is not the case. He came not to condemn but to save.

These sermons were followed by excellent remarks from Rev. W. T. Jewell, A. Church and C. A. Southard. An altar service followed the afternoon discourse.

The congregation is rated from 600 to 1,000 persons.

Wednesday, Aug. 22.

Tuesday evening the service was conducted by Rev. James Biram, of Orrington Centre; text, Matthew, 22:42, "What think you of Christ?" Christ the most prominent man for more than 1,800 years. Written about, talked about and worshipped by millions. One so thought of and adored should arrest your attention. He claims to be the Son of God. The Creator of all things. This claim he makes good by marvellous displays of power. He hushes a tempest with a word. He feeds 5,000 hungry persons and more with only five barley loaves and two small fishes. The tomb couldn't hold him. Do not these things proclaim Him divine? But while He is divine He is human as well. He is the son of man as well as the Son of God. He weeps at the tomb of Lazarus. He laments the on-coming doom of Jerusalem. He sighs and moans in Gethsemane. He agonizes on the cross. He was a man. But he was more. He was God and man. Being these his teachings must be in keeping. Such is the case. None other taught as He. His teaching is above that of all others. He is not only against murder, but anger; not only against adultery, but lust. He brings life and immortality to light. Pictures heaven so that we may bury our dead with hope in our heart. But Christ is a Saviour as well as teacher. He came to seek and to save the lost. He is the only Saviour. He is the Saviour of all, Asiatic as well as American. There is no color line, no social line. Such is Christ. Will you take him? By-and-by he will be judge. We shall all be called before his judgment seat. O take Him ere that day arrives.

Wednesday morning a very impressive public prayer service was held at the stand from 8.45 to 9.45, conducted by Rev. W. T. Jewell, of Hampden.

The morning preaching service was conducted by Rev. A. J. Lockhart, of Orrington. Text, Matt. 12—20. A bruised reed shall be not break and smoking flax shall be not quench, etc. What a vast difference between the thought of God and man. How unlike their feelings towards humanity. The world bruises, God seeks to heal. Even in her religion the world has been severe. All heathenism is unfeeling and merciless. Too much has this entered even the Christian church. Cruel is all religion from which Christ is divorced. But God is not so. A bruised reed he breaks not and smoking flax he quenches not. He pities, loves, uplifts. He is patient and tender towards his creatures in their weaknesses and even in their sins. It is of this great tenderness and love we would speak this morning; first: He is especially pitiful and tender when most we need it. There are difficulties through which we pass. There are sorrows that wellnigh overwhelm. 'Tis then that he is near, even though we may not see it as it is. The end will show that he did not forsake us. Out of these sorrows we come more heroic. Second: He is near, also in the hour when we lament over broken resolutions. We are prone to be controlled by our emotions. We have our moods. At times we are on the mountain top. At other times we weep in the valley. The valley the best place often. A place of resolve. But we fail often to keep our good resolutions, and therefore we weep. But God is near. He says try again. He smiles more than frowns. If only we be honest in our desire and purpose He does not smite, but pities, pardons and lifts us up. Are you a sinner all bruised and broken, all sick and sore, all wounded and dying? O, don't despair. A bruised reed He will not break, smoking flax He will not quench. He longs to save you. O, come and come now.

The afternoon service was conducted by Rev. W. H. Williams of Belfast, text Matt. XXVII—22, "What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?" These words were addressed originally by Pontius Pilate to the Jews. These had long desired Christ's execution. Their plans had, as they supposed, been carefully laid. Jesus had been arrested in the garden, brought before the Jewish Council and condemned, and now is presented to Pilate, the Roman Governor, for final sentence. Pilate finds no fault in Him and desires to release Him. After several unsuccessful attempts he finally puts forward a noted robber, already a condemned criminal, and bids them choose between the two. They cry, release Barrabas! Pilate then asks, what then shall I do with Jesus, &c. This question is before you to-day. Our first proposition is that you must have something to do with Jesus. He is everywhere. This Bible is full of Him. This grove is full of Him. Deny His Divinity you may, but you cannot get away from Him. He is in all our literature. He is in all the letters you write. The Sabbath constantly reminds us of Him. Our second proposition is that as He is everywhere and touches everything, you must personally take an attitude towards Him; a position we must take. He is on our hands to dispose of. Such was Pilate's case and such is ours. Our next proposition is that the attitude we take is one we freely take. Pilate did as he chose. It was for His release or condemn. He could release. He need not condemn. Influenced he may have been, and yet he was at liberty to do as he would, and so he did, and so do we. We choose or reject him as we will. Our next proposition is that if we do not wickedly and deliberately reject, or cheerfully and gladly receive them, it must be that we coldly, carelessly neglect. Like Pilate in the early part of his debate with the Jews, we delay and postpone a decision finally to decide fatally, and deludedly try to wash our hands of guilt. O, why will we act so unwisely? He wants to save you, though a sinner you long may have been. May you take none of Pilate's attitudes and so be saved his painful end and eternity.

AMID PICTURESQUE SCENERY

The Annual Reunion and Excursion of the Lincoln County Bar.

A correspondent writes as follows:

"Wiscasset, on the Sheepscot river," so reads the old school book, but more an arm of the ocean than a river—an arm embracing some of the finest scenery that can be found. The shores of shaded gray rocks form a setting for the bright verdure of woods and fields that stretch out above and around them, the numerous points, capes and islands, each one a subject for a valued picture, all this in the arm that extends twelve miles before it reaches its mother ocean.

One of four days spent in this grand old town proved to be a "red letter day" to be set apart and remembered, lived over and rejoiced in. The Bar of Lincoln County celebrated their first reunion by a sail on their picturesque river to Squirrel and Mouse Islands and out of the kindness of its legal heart came invitations to a chosen few to join in the festivities. At the comfortable hour of ten and one half of the clock they set forth in the steamer Samoset and less than two hours found them at Boothbay, where a landing was made to enable a few brethren to join the party; then sailing on in and out of straits and thoroughfares, with ever new and pleasing scenery, they soon landed on Squirrel Island. There the legal hosts and guests assembled in the church and were edified by an oration and poem.

After a hasty glance at the cottages and consequent impression that the fortunate occupants had cast their lines in pleasant places, the Bar and guests again set sail, or rather steam for Mouse Island, one mile away. There landing, a walk among fragrant evergreen trees, which gave out delicious and healthful odors, led to the Samoset House, the only building on the Island. There dinner was served, followed by an intellectual dessert of toasts and sentiments by the President of the Day, a Supreme Judge, an ex-Governor and members of the Bar, old and young.

One member of fifty years practice, by his magnetic power of speech, carried us back to the days of his youth, while another, in the prime of life, vividly depicted the possibilities of the future, and one's enthusiasm rose to its highest level while witnessing the brotherly love and harmony evinced in the manners and on the faces of the legal fraternity.

Sound common sense was the key-note of the remarks, and spectators were impressed with the fact that the aged members, as well as those just entering upon the arena to compete for the honors with which their predecessors had been crowned, were men to be respected and trusted.

The wives of these men of the law and their lady friends in no wise fell behind their lords in genial manners and comely appearing, which betokened their descent from the noble men and women who, a century or two ago, dwelt in these lands and built and occupied the forts which still stand as monuments of their patriotism and courage.

The courtesy and kindness which prompted the invitation to the writer of this article—an entire stranger—will not be forgotten and the gratification afforded not often equalled.

Long life and a full measure of success to the Lincoln County Bar is the earnest wish of AN INVITED GUEST.

Fire Insurance Rates.

BANGOR, Aug. 22, 1883.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:—

The facetiousness of your correspondent "Insurance" is characteristic of that very pleasant gentleman. It reminds one of what the elder Vanderbilt is said to have told the railroad laborers who called on him to represent that they could not live on the wages they were receiving. "Why don't you take four or five thousand dollars and buy a farm then?"

Since writing the article which you were kind enough to publish the 16th inst., the writer has been informed by the Hon. S. C. Hatch, Mr. Thomas S. Moore and Mr. O. H. Ingalls, all of whom have had the best opportunities for observing, as Assessors for the city, that my estimate of the insurable property of the city, at eleven and one-half millions, was, in their judgment, a moderate one and within reason.

To-day, by request of several business men, I have gathered from the city reports the correct average loss by fire, in this city, for the six years preceding and the six years since the completion of our water works. From 1871 to 1876, inclusive, the average loss by fire was $65,428.00 per annum. From 1876 to 1883 the average loss for the same cause was $11,876.00 per annum, showing a decrease in the risk of about 82 per cent. In other words the risk was more than five and a half times greater, before the completion of our water works than it has been since. From the foregoing it will be [illegible] that it is in my previous statement of actual cost of insuring all the property in Bangor at one-ninth of one per cent. was liberal, as it really cost but a trifle over one-tenth of one per cent.

No city on this continent is better protected against fire and I venture to say no other city is obliged to pay such exorbitant rates above the cost of insuring. The writer knows that the rate for insurance in some of the thickest business portions of Boston is not much more than half as much as it is here to-day. Yet, if my memory serves me right it was the Boston fire that wiped out the last two companies "Insurance cites for my investigation.

This is a matter of vital importance to this city. Heavy insurance rates are as prejudicial to a city's interest as heavy taxes.

"Insurance's" reply does not answer my first inquiry, for the "reason for the advance in rates." It cannot be answered by witty conundrums. The public will want an explanation or a restoration of old rates.

Excursions.

The barge Clifford and steamer Ralph Ross take big parties to Northport daily. To-day there will be a large excursion come over the Maine Central from Dexter and intermediate stations and go down river.

The excursion of the Order of the United Friends to Bar Harbor occurs to-morrow and a very auspicious time is anticipated. The steamer Queen City will leave at 6 30 A. M., and return during the evening. A landing will be made at Fort Point and the Bangor excursionists will be increased by the Fort Point orchestra and several guests of the hotel.

Announcement appears elsewhere of a grand excursion on the steamer Penobscot to Boothbay, Squirrel and Mouse Islands, on Sunday, Aug. 26th, leaving here at 4 A. M., accompanied by the Bangor Band.

A Deserved Compliment for the Maine Militia.

The Maine correspondent of the Boston Journal thus alludes to the Maine Militia:

The Maine Volunteer Militia went into camp at Augusta last Tuesday for four days. This is about a month earlier than last year and will probably ensure good weather. Second Lieutenant John R. Totten of the Fourth Artillery, stationed at Fort Preble, has been detailed by Major General Hancock to attend the encampment and transmit to the War Department a full report of his observations for the information of the Secretary of War. Lieut. Totten was detailed to the same service last season and made a very critical examination and report upon the efficiency of the militia of this State, and several of his recommendations have been adopted by Adjutant General Beal. His observations were also published in the Adjutant General's report for the benefit of the militia and it is expected a higher degree of efficiency will be apparent at this encampment than at any previous one.

The soldiers themselves will be better clothed than last year and better prepared for the changes of weather. Sufficient overcoats and blouses have been purchased during the year to supply all in need of the same, so as to obviate the wearing of articles of civilians' clothing at any time during the week. The efficiency of the Maine militia has been repeatedly spoken of by visitors from other States at these annual encampments. Last year Assistant Inspector General Stevens, of Massachusetts, accompanied by Colonel Dalton, visited the camp and presented a very flattering report of the condition of things to Brigadier General Schaff.

Greater attention is paid to preparing the militia for active service than in any other New England State, and Colonel Stevens pronounced the camp as remarkable "for the method of feeding, and especially because the method was so satisfactory to the men; for the surprisingly large percentage of qualified marksmen; for the success of its skirmish and firing drills; for its armament and equipment being so modern; and that so much could be accomplished with an annual appropriation by the State of only $16,000."

WOMAN'S FRIEND.

Having been troubled for many years with kidney disease, with severe pains in my back and limbs—my ankles were at times very badly swollen—I was advised to go to the hospital for treatment, which I did on the advice of a friend, but found no relief, at least only of a temporary nature, and I had given up all hope of a cure until my husband was advised to use Hunt's Remedy by a friend that had used it and been cured of a severe case of dropsy and kidney trouble. I procured a bottle, and had not used one-half of the bottle before I began to be better, no pain in the back, and the swelling of my limbs commenced to go down, and my appetite was much better, for I had become so bad that all I ate distressed me very much. It was really dyspepsia, combined with the other troubles, and I have used four bottles, and am able to do my work and attend to household duties which before had been a burden to me, and I can only thank Hunt's Remedy for the health and happiness which I now enjoy, and esteem it a great privilege and duty to give you this letter in behalf of my many suffering lady friends in Boston and the country, and can only say in conclusion that if you once try it you will be convinced as I was, even against my own will, that Hunt's Remedy is indeed a woman's friend.

You are at liberty to use this for their benefit if you so choose.

Respectfully Yours,
MRS. WM. GRAY,
Hotel Goldsmith, 1416 Tremont Street, Boston.
April 25, 1883.

A BAGGAGE-MASTER'S PRAISE.

Mr. H. BARNY, baggage-master on Eastern Railroad, Boston, says:—

"I have used Hunt's Remedy, the great kidney and liver medicine, in my family for months. It was recommended by friends in Portsmouth who have been cured of kidney troubles, and I find it just as represented and worth its weight in gold. My wife is using it for dyspepsia, and it has improved so rapidly that I cheerfully indorse it as a family medicine of real merit, and I would not be without it."

A YELL FROM THE NURSERY.

"There, Freddie's got 'em again!" and Mamma jumps out of bed and runs to the rescue of her darling. You can't keep children from eating fruits in their season. Nobody wants to. But they will eat indiscreetly. Freddie was no exception, and he is now paying the penalty. "Bring the bottle!" shouts mamma to papa, as soon as she is satisfied of Freddie's condition. Papa rushes in with a bottle of Perry Davis's Pain Killer in his hand. A dose is given, and the naughty little fellow is soon out of his misery, and asleep.

As a sure remedy for Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Torpid Liver, Biliousness, &c., no medicine is equal to Dr. Baxter's Mandrake Bitters. N. H. Downs' Elixir is the oldest and best cough remedy in existence. Bruises, scalds, burns, sprains, cuts, &c., either on man or beast, are speedily cured by the use of Henry & Johnson's Arnica and Oil Liniment.

I can recommend Ely's Cream Balm to relieve all persons suffering from Rose Cold and Hay Fever. I have been a great sufferer from these complaints and have used it. I have recommended it to many of my friends for Catarrh, and in all cases where they have used the Balm freely they have been cured. T. KENNEY, Dry Goods Merchant, Ithaca, N. Y.

THE ENTHUSIASTIC MAN.

A tall stranger, clothed in the regulation summer uniform of an alpaca coat and Manilla hat, pushed his way into the sweat-box of the "Topics of the Times" editor, and immediately commenced to display his conversational wares.

"There is not the least doubt in the world about Texas being a fine State, a splendid State, finest State in the Union," he said, briskly. "I'm just dead in love with Texas, ain't you?"

"No, I don't think I'm mashed on the State, much," growled the "Topics of the Times" man. He had not yet been able to size up his customer, sound his calibre and his depth, and he knew that his only salvation was to suppress him.

"Such a fine large State—so inexhaustible in resources—"

"O, I don't think it is very large," replied the interviewed, wondering whether the man wanted five dollars or a dime; "in fact, I believe she's shrinking."

"But, my dear sir, you must acknowledge that the climate is unexcelled, unapproached and unapproachable."

"How's that for climate?" inquired the "Topics" man, thrusting out his tongue; "coated, isn't it? Coated with three thicknesses of waterproof malaria, bah!" and he twisted uneasily in his chair.

The tall stranger shifted his base of operations.

"But then, sir, think of the peaceful and orderly habits of the citizens. The society of Texas is something to be proud of, sir; something for an example to all civilized nations of the world, don't you think so? You scarcely ever see any drunken men lying around."

"O, yes you do. That's where you are mistaken. I get drunk every other day, and last season I killed three men and only escaped hanging by a scratch and the fact that most of the jury were drunk. Society in Texas is at a mighty low ebb, I can tell you for a starter. In some parts of this State men are murdered, or robbed, or lynched almost every day of their lives."

Then the "Topics of the Times" editor wondered why the man didn't poach his business, and if he didn't see what he wanted, call for it.

Again the stranger shifted positions.

"Texas Siftings is a great paper, a wonderful success, phenomenal, sir, perfectly and superlatively phenomenal. Immense circulation, I am told."

"O, I don't know. Siftings hasn't got much of a circulation—a mere few hundred thousand scattered all over the country."

"If this break didn't stand the man off, nothing could. And again the "Topics" man wondered whether the fellow would strike him for a position as editor-in-chief or for a square meal.

"Ahem!" continued the enthusiastic party. "Of course your paper expects to be represented at the Louisville Exposition?"

"I reckon not."

"Possible! Why the people will be terribly disappointed if you do not have a representative on the ground. I don't do such things very often, but I am willing to see what can be done, for you. I haven't the least doubt in the world but that it could work up quite a boom, and it wouldn't cost you a cent. I like and admire the paper so much that I will be glad to do anything to help it along."

Everything was now explained, and the "T. of the T." man felt a great wave of relief surge over him.

He knew what was coming.

It came.

"Of course," the tall stranger suggested, "you will furnish transportation."

"To where?"

"To Louisville."

"Where's Louisville?"

"Why, where the Exposition is going to be held."

"What Exposition?"

"The—the Exposition at Louisville."

"My friend, you are the thirteenth man who has generously offered, on account of his great admiration for the Siftings, to represent us without charge at the Louisville Exposition, but each had a sentimental reason that took the form of a pass. We furnished twelve of you with passes and meal tickets good anywhere on the route. We want to be represented there, but must draw the line at thirteen. It is an unlucky number."

Then the man

"Went out like one who hath been stunned,

And is of sense bereft," while the "Topics" man opened a side drawer in his desk and produced a big 11 o'clock lunch, which he rapidly went through like a hired man cutting underbrush.—Texas Siftings.

Virginia Dare—the first child of English parents born in America—would have been 296 years old, had she lived till now, for she was born in August, 1587. Her birthplace was Roanoke. Some accounts differ from this, in some respects.

The Shapira manuscript of Deuteronomy, which has caused such lively controversy in literary circles, is pronounced by Dr. Neubaur and Prof. Sayce a forgery, without any claims to antiquity. Prof. Sayce compares it with the Moabite stone, also found by Shapira, and never accepted as authentic.

James Elliot, a cripple, seventy years old, sacrificed his life in Philadelphia yesterday in rescuing two boys from the wheels of an express train. The train was almost upon the boys when Elliot reached them standing on the track helpless from fright. Elliot pulled one boy away and had just given the other a shove that sent him head over heels when the train struck the old man and the wheels ground him to a shapeless mass.

The Athenæum publishes several pages of letters, some of them new, bearing on the scandals surrounding the names of Lord Byron and his wife and sister. The letters have great interest for America. They show conclusively that Lady Byron throughout her life was on terms of affection with Mrs. Leigh, and that she left Lord Byron because they could not agree, and because, during the prolonged illness in which the poet showed signs of mental derangement, she believed herself to be the cause of irritation to him.

A little time ago, two women met in a Buffalo street car, and when one complained that she was again without a cook, the other replied: "Ah! I have a jewel of a girl! She's neat, prompt, respectful, and I only pay her twelve shillings a week." "Is it possible?" "Yes; she's from the country and doesn't know she can get more wages." The same two women met in the same car again yesterday, but alas! how changed the situation? They stared frigidly at each other, without even a nod, and they would not sit on the same side of the car. The twelve-shilling jewel of a girl is now receiving $2 a week in the kitchen of the woman who was without a cook.

We suppose we are called upon to congratulate New Yorkers, on the prospect that their white elephant, the pedestal for the statue of Liberty Enlightening the World, is in a fair way of being got off their hands—in time. On Tuesday a contract for laying the foundation of the pedestal was awarded at $3.94 a cubic yard, and it is estimated that the whole cost of the work will amount to at least $50,000. This foundation is to be of cement, sand and broken stone, and will be ninety-three feet square at the bottom, seventy feet at the top, and forty-eight feet eight inches in height. It will be begun in an excavation fifteen feet deep, and its height above low-water mark will be sixty-seven feet and eight inches. This foundation is to carry a pedestal to rise to altitude of one hundred and twelve feet, and which will be about sixty-seven feet square at the base and forty at the top. The contractor is to have the foundation completed on the fifteenth of November next. For all this the funds are not coming in with that degree of liberality that is wished, although the work is not expected to flag for a lack of means.

COMBINES MORE IMPROVEMENTS,

than all its competitors. The introduction of the New Hub in the city has caused our competitors to make over their goods, and in doing so their aim has been to get a stove "as good as the New Hub," but as yet they have all failed, and without they cannot get a stove that will compare with the Hub. We have within three years and we refer to them for proof that the New Hub is the easiest range to manage; the best baker, the most durable and the prettiest range in the market. To prove the durability of the Reflex Grate, we will simply say that we have put in three years replaced or repaired one dozen grates out of the hundreds that we have sold, during the Summer season the New Hub has been nearly made over. Every point which experience has proved to need strength, has been thoroughly strengthened, and we have to-day a range that in twenty-five per cent. abend of any thing in New England.

Compare it with anything in the city, even the latest, and decide for yourself. We refund money for every range that proves unsatisfactory after a fair trial.

Oranges and Florida.

Better than Breezes and Blossoms —Under a New Flag.

Even the balmy air and orange groves of Florida fail to keep its people full of happiness and comfort. Art must help nature everywhere—in the tropics as among the pines of the North. "And, chief among the blessings which are adapted to all zones," writes Dr. J. G. Wallace, of Fort Dade, Fla., "is PARKER'S TONIC. It seems to have the world for a field, and most of the current diseases yield to its action. I have used it in the case of a delicate and dyspeptic young lady, with the most gratifying results. It seemed to accomplish with ease what the usual prescriptions and treatment for that miserable malady failed wretchedly to bring about. I am also glad to state that the Tonic has greatly relieved me personally of a troublesome atonic condition of the stomach of long standing. It is the ideal purifier and invigorator."

Messrs. Hiscox & Co. call especial attention to the fact that after April 1st, 1883, the name and style of this preparation will—exactly as simply Parker's Tonic. The word "Ginger" is dropped, for the reason that unprincipled dealers are unscrupulously deceiving their customers by substituting inferior preparations under the name of Ginger, and as ginger is an unimportant flavoring ingredient in our Tonic, we are sure this change will save much trouble as to the propriety of the change. There will be no change, however, in the preparation itself, and all bottles resembling in the least the old wrapper, wrapped under the name of "PARKER'S GINGER TONIC," contain the genuine medicine if the signature of HISCOX & CO. is at the bottom of outside wrapper.

SKIN HUMORS

Wonderful Cure of a Lad 12 years old, who for 8 years, from the top of his head to his ankles, was One Mass of Scabs.

My son, a lad twelve years of age, was afflicted with the worst form of Eczema for a period of eight years. So virulent was it that from the top of his head to within a few inches of his ankles he was one mass of scabs, which refused to yield to any treatment that was attempted. Every remedy that was suggested by friends or physicians was tried in vain. Allopathy, homœopathy, herbs, roots, salt-water baths, Saxon mud ices, soaps, ointments, and in short everything that could be done to eradicate the disorder seemed only to aggravate it, and the child's life became a burden to him, and the expense of the various experiments a constant drain upon our resources.

My wife, reading the advertisement of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in one of the daily papers, resolved to make one more attempt at a cure. The disease was now encroaching upon his face, and it seemed irremediable. I gave a reluctant consent to the purchase, and an interview was sought with a famous lady physician of New York, who made a most thorough examination of the case, and promised a cure within the least possible time by the use of CUTICURA REMEDIES. In ONE WEEK there was a marked change; the raw and angry sores began to grow pale and sloughy, and in the period of one month they began to disappear entirely, until at the present writing the only vestige is one small spot upon the forearm, scarcely visible and fast disappearing. Those after eight years of expense and anxiety, we have the intense satisfaction of seeing the child's skin as fair and smooth as it was before this dreadful chromosome disorder attacked him.

Sincerely yours,

Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"No. 8 Sixth St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"Messrs. H. C. AYER & CO., Gentlemen:

Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and tormented me so that I could scarcely bear my clothing on them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved, almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully, Z. P. WILDS."

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

cleanses, enriches, and strengthens the blood, stimulates the action of the stomach and bowels, and thereby enables the system to resist and overcome the attacks of all Scrofulous Diseases, Eruptions of the Skin, Rheumatism, Catarrh, General Debility, and all disorders resulting from poor or corrupted blood and a low state of the system.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold; resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. At last I gave me up. I took AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 16, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup, it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which was at once procured, and always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easier. We also believe that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds I have ever tried. A. J. CLANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for it I should long since have died from lung trouble. C. BRADDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

MRS. C. W. CHAMBERLIN

State and Ark St., Springfield, Mass.—Her Good, Kind Words will do Much for the Afflicted.

Mrs. Chamberlin is the wife of C. W. Chamberlin, employed in the United States Armory at Springfield, Mass. She says: "Every Spring I have been, for some time past, more or less troubled with nervous debility and weakness. Some years I've been completely run down. My physician has strongly recommended various strengthening and blood medicines, but I never received any permanent benefit until I tried Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY. Before I was persuaded in one by Mrs. Newcombe, on State St., I think it a wonderful medicine to give one strength and energy to a person. I have recommended it to Smith, after Smith, among my acquaintances in Springfield, Mass., and FAVORITE REMEDY has done a great deal of good wherever it has been placed. I have a sister, Mrs. Harmon, 29 Tremont St., Lowell, Mass., who was troubled in the same way with weakness and loss of strength and appetite, but by using Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY her health was completely restored. I consider it an excellent medicine. Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is used extensively among the Armory men here."

No. Sir!

A Scotch minister once said no woman could bear pain as well as man. That is not so. The fact is that it is the other way. Mrs. Conrad Meyers of Rondout, N. Y., submitted to the operation of the removal of her h nd by amputation, without taking ether, or moving a muscle, or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy, also of Rondout, N. Y., who performed the operation, said he never saw such pecolm. The lady's disease was erysipelas, and after trying the best of doctors, FAVORITE REMEDY to cleanse the blood. Mrs. Meyers is now well and strong.

DOWNS' ELIXIR.

N. H. DOWNS'

Vegetable Balsamic

ELIXIR.

For the cure of

Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Influenza, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir is used its efficacy is at once manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to.

At the commencement it is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs; then an inflamation, when the cough is rather dry, local fever, and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflamation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.

It heals the ulcerated surfaces and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which prefer drying a nature as to bring certain danger of destroying the patient, whereas the medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the cause, consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions, free.

Price 35 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle.

SOLD EVERYWHERE.
